

How do I find a specific article?

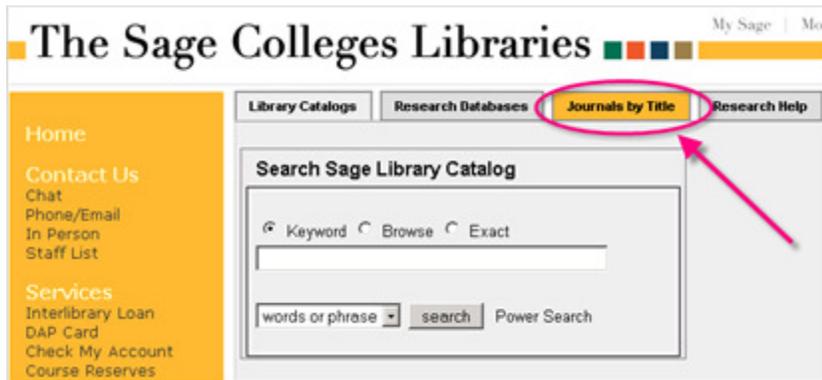

If you have a citation for a specific journal or newspaper article, the library web site can help you quickly find the full-text of the article. Here's an example of an article, listed in both MLA and APA citation styles:

Stevens, S. (1988). A simple step-by-step approach to neurologic assessment. Nursing, 18(9), 53-61. (APA STYLE)

Stevens, Susan. "A Simple Step-by-Step Approach to Neurologic Assessment." Nursing 18.9 (1988): 53-61. (MLA STYLE)

This is the ARTICLE title

This is the JOURNAL title

1

Click on the "Journals by Title" tab on the library home page (<http://library.sage.edu>).

This database has information about all of the journals and newspapers in the library's print and online collection.

2

Type the title of the JOURNAL (not the article) into the search box and hit the "search" button.

3

 Nursing (Jenkintown, Pa.) (0360-4039) Title details from ulrichsweb.com™ Look up Article from 01/01/1975 to 08/31/2007 in Health Source: Nursing/Academic Edition from 1983 to 2007 in Troy Library Print Holdings from 01/01/1985 to 08/31/2007 in Academic Search Elite from 09/01/1995 to 12/01/2004 in ProQuest Central

If the journal is in the library's collection, you'll see the coverage we have. Select the database that includes the date of the article you need.

In some cases we may only have the article in print or we will have to borrow a copy via interlibrary loan.
